【46 - 48】 다음 글을 읽고, 물음에 답하시오.

David is a high school freshman. He likes to help others. Whether it's with his family or friends, David has tried to be there for them.

When David's sister was in danger of failing math, David didn't only help her study, but he also tried to make it more fun. He made up examples that were related to things she was interested in. His sister studied math with interest and passed the examination.

Last year, his friend Sara failed to get into the school basketball team. David wanted to help her. He joined a community league team with Sara and practiced together. Sara is ready to get into the school team now. She says, "David is the most _____ person I know."

David sometimes felt like he was a little hard on himself. But over time he has learned that what he did for others has returned in even greater amounts. "Every time I do something for someone, I enjoy the feeling of helping," he says. "I feel good about myself because I can do something for others."
