18. 밑줄 친 This[this]가 가리키는 것으로 가장 적절한 것은?

This is a strong emotion that you can have for a person or an object. This is the force that motivates us to express ourselves in the world. Nothing great in the world has ever been accomplished without this. Misguided, this becomes an obsession, and there is a great difference between having this for something and being obsessed with something. This is positive and energizing. An obsession is negative and destructive. People with this do what they are doing out of love. The person with an obsession will work out of fear or selfish desire.

* obsession: 집착

- ① passion
- ② anger
- ③ diligence
- ④ jealousy
- ⑤ intelligence

19. 밑줄 친 They[they]가 가리키는 대상이 나머지 넷과 다른 것은?

Mockingbirds are brownish-gray, and about nine inches long. ① They prefer to nest within human habitats. ② They locate their nests in bushes surrounding buildings, very often where grass lawns exist. ③ They use dead branches and stems for building materials and line their nests with grasses. It's easy to identify mockingbird nests because ④ they generally appear to be roughly-built. "The birds don't need well-designed nests, as ⑤ they usually build them in protected bushes," said a biologist, Cris Tomlinson.

20. 다음 글의 목적으로 가장 적절한 것은?

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star," how I wonder where you are. Wonder no more. San Diego has always been an excellent place to spot the stars, with its quiet hilltops and plains. "Star light, star bright," it all awaits at the Palomar Observatory tonight. The Palomar Observatory, located on Palomar Mountain, offers a view of sparkles in the sky with five telescopes used nightly for a wide variety of astronomical research. It is home of the famous Hale telescope, a 200-inch telescope that is the workhorse for modern astronomy.

- ① 그림의 내용을 묘사하려고

Raised in a poor family, Confucius truly understood the suffering of the people. In his view, the lords of his country, only interested in their own personal gain, ① were responsible for it. Therefore, he gathered a group of intelligent followers ② what he trained in several subjects including ethics. He believed that government leaders must be humane, honest and ③ fair, not experts in administration. He taught his students that it is the role of rulers ④ to secure the happiness of their people. He had considerable success in placing his pupils in positions of power in government. When the men who ⑤ had been trained by him were sent into service, even immoral rulers valued their honesty.

23. 다음 글에서 전체 흐름과 관계 없는 문장은?

Some airlines were telling passengers on Saturday that new government security regulations prohibit them from leaving their seats an hour before landing. ① The regulations are in response to a suspected terrorism incident on Christmas Day. ② Air Canada said that the rules limit on-board activities by passengers and crew in U.S. airspace. ③ Advance Seat Selection Service depends on your booking class or membership level. ④ The airline said that during the final hour of flight, passengers must remain seated. ⑤ They won't be allowed access to carry-on baggage or to have any items in their laps.

24. Certain announcements like "You're fired," or "There's been an accident," make you feel shocked. When you hear them, remember this healthy way to cope: get some _____. In one experiment, researchers asked people to think of a difficult episode from their past. Those in one group were told to relive the event as if it were happening again; the others were instructed to recall the memory, stepping back from the scene as if it were a video. Surprisingly, the latter group felt less stressed and had lower blood pressure.

* relive: 되살리다

- ① distance ② sleep ③ food
- ④ exercise ⑤ criticism

25. Consciously and unconsciously, people tend to imitate those around them. That's why the latest research shows that things like happiness, depression and obesity can spread like wildfires through social networks. So, surround yourself with friends who can also be _____. You can hang out with people who look and act the way you would like to. Social imitation is the easiest form of self-improvement. Social support is critical to changing all kinds of behavior. Good friends can not only help you through bad times, but they can also help you stay focused on your goals.

- ① severe critics ② role models
- ③ running mates ④ social workers
- ⑤ great competitors

26. According to a wildlife researcher, Jennifer Hunter, predators with experience of skunks avoid them both because of _____ and their distinctive body shape. She wanted to know how predators know a skunk is a skunk. She prepared lots of stuffed black-and-white skunks and gray foxes, which were about the same size. She dyed the stuffed skunks gray and the foxes black-and-white. She then placed the animals at many sites around California. In places where skunks were common, predators such as bears and mountain lions wouldn't attempt to drag away the black-and-white foxes as well as the gray skunks.

* stuffed: 박제된

- ① their coloration ② their violence
- ③ their bad smell ④ the movement
- ⑤ the unique sound

27. When we search for something on the Internet, why do we get 11,980,764 results? Tens of millions of pages exist on the Internet, and many more are being added every day. When you are in a hurry, such a huge amount of results make you feel more irritated. To prevent a gigantic list of results, you should _____. For example, search not on classical music, but on Beethoven symphonies; not cake recipes, but chocolate cake recipes. Also, spending ten minutes or so to read the search engines' search tips will save you time, and reduce your frustration level.

- ① visit various websites
- ② change the search engine
- ③ be as specific as possible
- ④ use a brand-new computer
- ⑤ employ a computer expert

28. Imagine you are a spacecraft. There's no air at all out there in space. One side of you cooks in the sun, while your other side freezes in the shade. Inside you are computers, communications equipment, and all sorts of other delicate, high-tech materials. Most of your parts work best if they are neither too hot nor too cold. But, unfortunately, heaters and coolers take up lots of room, use a lot of electricity, and add a lot of weight to the spacecraft at liftoff. What's to be done? Engineers with NASA's New Millennium Program have come up with some new ways _____ in a spacecraft, without adding weight, using too much power, or taking up too much room.

- ① to move place to place
- ② to control the temperature
- ③ to communicate effectively
- ④ to help train new astronauts
- ⑤ to learn more about instruments

The sound was coming closer; he could hear the whisper of leaves clearly off to his left. On the ground before him was a stick. It was only a small branch, but he reached for it anyway. He stripped the leaves from it and grasped it tightly. Perhaps, he thought wildly, he could blind the beast as it scratched him, trying to drag him from between the rocks. How long would he have to wait? At last, without further warning, the creature came into view. He felt his pulse hammering in his throat. His thoughts seemed to be running a desperate race with each other.

- ① funny ② urgent ③ festive
- ④ peaceful ⑤ monotonous

One of the best ways to help someone save face is to let them come to the conclusion that they're wrong all by themselves. By asking a few simple questions, we can give people the chance to explain themselves or admit they need to go back to the drawing board. ____ (A) ____, your best friend wants to get her tongue pierced. You could say, "Yuck, not only is it disgusting, but piercing is so old." ____ (B) ____, why not ask a few leading questions, like, "Do you think it will hurt? What happens if it gets infected? I hear that can be pretty serious." She may realize on her own she has some more thinking to do.

33. Why are people in a certain area suffering from malaria more often than others? Mountain people build their houses raised above the ground. They also keep their animals below the house and have their cooking fire inside the house. Mosquitoes fly close to the ground, preferring to bite animals instead of people and seldom enter the smoke-filled house of the mountain people. On the other hand, lowland people build their houses right on the ground, keeping their domestic animals away from the house and cook outside. Mosquitoes easily enter the ground-level houses and bite the people in their houses because there are no animals to attract them away.

- ① 모기가 유발하는 질병의 종류
- ② 고도에 따른 가축 분포의 차이
- ③ 문화에 따른 다양한 가옥 구조
- ④ 고산지대 사람들의 독특한 요리법
- ⑤ 주거 환경과 말라리아 감염의 관계

34. I knew I ate the wrong foods: sweets for breakfast, soda and chips for lunch and second helpings at dinner. I didn't really know what the right foods were. I just knew I needed to eat less. So I ate the smallest portions I could. Not surprisingly, I lost weight but I had so little energy. By reading health magazines I learned food wasn't my enemy. I just had to make better choices: a banana, cereal, and fat-free milk every morning; grilled chicken and a piece of fruit for lunch; and a turkey sandwich on whole wheat for dinner. My energy returned, and I continued to drop weight.

- ① The danger of gaining weight
- ② The importance of eating right
- ③ The consequences of eating less
- ④ The tips for selecting dairy foods
- ⑤ The side effects of dropping weight

35. 다음 도표의 내용과 일치하지 않는 문장은?

The above graph shows the number of responses to the survey of reasons for students' lack of sleep at North Carolina State University. ① The graph clearly displays that 'homework' was the number one reason among college students. ② Surprisingly, 'going out with friends' received less than forty responses, which had been expected to be higher as college students have parties often. ③ The second reason for lack of sleep was 'trouble falling asleep.' ④ More than 40 students said they couldn't sleep enough because they spent their time on computers. ⑤ And computers caused more students to have sleepless nights than TV did.

36. *Star Wreck*에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하는 것은?

Finnish filmmaker Timo Vuorensola came up with the idea for his movie Star Wreck, whose original was Star Trek. He knew that looking for conventional distribution would be almost impossible. An amateur, science-fiction comedy with an extremely small budget would hardly be attractive to mainstream studios. So Vuorensola took matters into his own hands: he used a social networking site to build up an online fan base, who contributed to the storyline and even offered their acting skills. In return for the help, Vuorensola released Star Wreck in 2005 online for free. Seven hundred thousand copies were downloaded in the first week alone, reaching 9 million today.

- ① 공상과학영화 *Star Trek*의 원작이다.
- ② 스튜디오 제작 경비가 많이 들었다.
- ③ 제작 과정에서 팬들의 도움을 받았다.
- ④ 2005년부터 온라인에서 유료로 배포되었다.
- ⑤ 지금까지 총 9백만 달러를 벌어들였다.

37. Shishmaref 마을에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

Shishmaref was a village in the furthest reaches of Alaska. About 15 years ago, the people of the small, oceanfront hunting village noticed something odd. The ice that surrounded and protected the village began melting. As the ice continued to melt away at an alarming pace during the 1990s, the village began to lose the protection and could be easily damaged by storm waves. In 1997, the town completely lost a 125-foot-wide strip of land at its northern edge. In 2001, a storm with 12-foot-high waves destroyed dozens of homes. And finally, in the summer of 2002, with the situation getting worse, the residents were forced to move their entire town miles inland.

- ① 알래스카에 있는 바닷가 마을이었다.
- ② 1990년대에 주변 얼음이 놀라운 속도로 녹았다.
- ③ 1997년에는 마을 북쪽 끝의 땅이 유실되었다.
- ④ 2001년에 폭풍으로 집이 수십 채 파손되었다.
- ⑤ 2002년 여름에 주민들이 다른 섬으로 이주하였다.

38. No one wants to tell a story to have the listeners look puzzled and say, "Huh?" The story needs to make sense in relation to what came before and what is likely to follow. A story in isolation is likely to be misunderstood. Perhaps the real danger of an isolated story is that its original intention can be reversed. For example, people often quote Robert Frost's Mending Wall to stress the needs for fences, saying "Good fences make good neighbors." However, when you read the entire poem, you come to realize Frost is questioning the need for fences.

- ① 좋은 시는 독자의 상상력을 자극한다.
- ② 담장을 허물고 이웃과 사이좋게 지내야 한다.
- ③ 어려운 이야기는 듣는 사람을 지루하게 한다.
- ④ 문학을 인용하면 세련된 의사소통이 가능하다.
- ⑤ 의도하는 바를 전체 맥락에 맞게 전달해야 한다.

39. Everyone is creative in different ways. Creativity that is locked inside is sometimes only released if a suitable outlet is found. Many people express their creativity through fine arts. But creativity is not limited to the fine arts. Chefs depart from recipe books to create new dishes. Knitters soon abandon conventional patterns and design their own. To realize their creative potential, individuals must be matched to the medium through which they will work. The search for an appropriate medium is not always easy, but it is far from impossible. The best approach is to constantly explore until your calling is found.

- ① Change your way of life right now.
- ② Design your own life without others' help.
- ③ Match your interest to the social standard.
- ④ Find the right way to show your creativity.
- ⑤ Focus on one area without wandering around.

But the fire chief insisted and as they exited the building, it exploded in a huge fireball.

In October 2001, a fire crew was fighting a fire in a deserted building in Leicester. (①) Even though it was big, the fire chief decided it was safe enough to send the crew into the building. (②) They were starting to make progress in putting the fire out, when the fire chief decided something was wrong and ordered his team out of the building. (③) The team protested, unwilling to give up the progress they had made. (④) If the decision to get out of the building hadn't been made, the entire team would have been killed. (⑤) It turned out that the fire was one of the most dangerous phenomena in firefighting — backdraft.

41. Some genetically blessed people are born with the complete potential for a brilliant smile. They have the right genes for perfect teeth. But others don't. These are the ones who may need help from a dentist. The treatment to obtain a brilliant smile may take up to four years. That is to say, one might need to wear braces for two years and then a retainer for two years to keep their teeth in place. For one to acquire that brilliant smile, many procedures are involved, and the patient's cooperation is essential.

- ③ Who Wants to Be a Dentist
- ④ How to Find a Skillful Dentist
- ⑤ What's Behind a Brilliant Smile

42. Take a small pocket dictionary. Look at five pages at random and count the number of words you know. Divide it by 5 and calculate how many words you know on one page. By multiplying the number by the total number of pages in the whole dictionary, you can get an approximation about how many words you know in a dictionary. To your surprise, you know a small fraction of words in the dictionary. You should also take into account that most dictionaries contain only a small sample of all the words in your language. It means that you probably know an even smaller proportion of the total vocabulary of the language.

- ① Words: Know a Lot?
- ② How to Use a Dictionary
- ③ Language: Survive or Not?
- ④ Vocabulary: Changes Everyday?
- ⑤ The Number of Various Languages

Most Americans eat lunch between noon and two o'clock. This mid-day meal is eaten away from home more often than breakfast or dinner.

- (A) In addition, it is inexpensive and easy to prepare. It needs only two pieces of bread and stuff to fill in between.
- (B) It means that working adults rarely go home for lunch, and many schoolchildren also eat at school.
- (C) Some of them bring food from home in a paper bag. For this purpose, they need a meal that is small and portable. The 'sandwich' meets these requirements.

How will your kids spend this summer? Building sand castles at the beach? Swimming at summer camp? While studying about education, I was surprised to learn that children drop in IQ each summer vacation—because they aren't in school or exercising their brains. This is less true of some students whose parents make them read books. But other kids fall two months behind in reading level each summer break. That accounts for much of the difference in learning course between the two. A mountain of research points to an important lesson: keep your kids away from the keyboard and the television this summer, and get them to read.

From time to time, the tribe gathered in a circle. They just talked and talked and talked, apparently with no purpose. They made no decisions. There was no leader. And everybody could participate. There may have been wise men or wise women that were listened to a bit more—the older ones—but everybody could talk. The meeting went on, until it finally seemed to stop for no reason at all and the group broke up. Yet after that, everybody seemed to know what to do, because they understood each other so well. They could get together in smaller groups and do something or decide things for themselves.

(A)

There was a board meeting of 100 major companies in downtown San Francisco in a neighborhood with many homeless people hanging around. When directors were just sitting down to a luxurious meal, there was a loud knocking on the door. The knocking was increasingly loud and the board members suggested to their host that it might be wise to ignore it and not open the door.

(B)

When the homeless men finished the food, they turned to the alarmed board members and asked, "Where did all this food come from? Why don't you share some of this with people like us? We are hungry. We need food. Would you really miss it if you shared some of it with us? What does your company do? Don't your ads say that you care about people like us?"

(C)

But the host said no and opened the door. There were a few homeless men. They said that they were hungry and needed food. To the horror of the board members, the host invited them in, and said, "Sure, we've got a lot of good food. Come on in. Sit down." So the homeless men sat down at the table and started to eat the caviar, the salmon, the lobster and everything else.

(D)

As the homeless men's questions became more aggressive, the board members' answers became more defensive. The board members became more and more concerned. The host finally revealed that the homeless men were hired actors for an opening to a main issue of the meeting, the board's _____.

When Edna was 12 years old, her mother was in the hospital seriously ill. She made a get-well card for her mother. The card says: "I wish you health. I wish you wealth. I wish you happiness." Mother was touched by her daughter's thoughtfulness. She said: "You are always so thoughtful. You are such a good girl." Suddenly, Edna grew pale, ran into the bathroom and started crying. Mother immediately thought there was some kind of relation between the praise and the reaction. Why should such praise make her daughter cry? When mother praised her daughter, Edna felt _____. She knew she was not always thoughtful. She knew she was sometimes selfish, often angry and always imperfect.

What should mother have said when she received the card? Something about the card, not about the child. For example: "Thank you so much. I like the card. It's so pretty and witty. It's lovely. I feel better already." Edna would have been delighted.
